

A diagram of a container with a gray background. The container is divided into two horizontal sections. The top section is labeled "gás" and contains several small white oval shapes representing gas molecules. The bottom section is labeled "líquido" and contains several larger white oval shapes representing liquid molecules. Two arrows point from the "líquido" label to the liquid phase: one points to the left and one points to the right.

gás

líquido